

Christophe Rigon / Soto - Scybernethician @ki_cog

Jul 26, 2024 · 6 tweets · ki\_cog/status/1816780016207749233

[ Academic Discourses on Normativity as a Second-Order Gesture ] 😊

From the normalization of normativity (the normativity of normativity) to self-normativity.

An interaction in 4 steps with the automatic doxa (LLM + RAG):

https://twitter.com/metanoia\_si/status/1816751308528885977

1. What is "linguistic normativity"? How could it be related to "vital normativity"?
2. Is it legitimate to speak about vital normativity without speaking about linguistic normativity?
3. Are there any philosophers who integrate both vital and linguistic normativity?
4. Yes but these authors use language itself to express their conceptions. Isn't it paradoxical?
5. Allright. But in what sense do academic philosophers or scientists speak normatively (because they are socio-professionally in a normative position) about normativity (be it social, linguistic or vital)? Don't we have here a second-order gesture?

The detail of this interaction, with (automatic) "answers" and its "conclusion":

Techno-normativity?!<https://www.perplexity.ai/search/what-is-linguistic-normativity-Txpjk13ITMqgygECZ4922A>

@threadreaderapp unroll

...